ALLIES GET SET-BACK AT ONE BALKAN GATE

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Comparatively few Fayette County residents have seen the famous glacial grooves on Kelly's Island in Lake Erie, a few miles off Marblehead peninsula, where great grooves, several feet in width and from a few inches to several feet in depth, have been cut of the hard limestone entirely across the island.

The state has taken over a small area where some of the grooves show to best advantage, on the northeast side of the island, and will preserve them for all time.

Somewhere in my collection of several thousands of photographs, I have pictures showing the grooves which depict the work of the great ice sheet that moved down over this area 20,000 to 50,000 years ago.

They were made by the weight of thousands of feet of ice pressing down upon chunks of granite which literally cut their way through the hard limestone, pushed by the irresistible force of the moving glacier.

There are also many deep grooves on Marblehead peninsula but most of them are covered with a few feet of earth.

I am firmly convinced that right here in Fayette County we are walking over glacial grooves every day and do not know it, for I am positive that the Niagara limestone, which runs from a few inches to 160 feet below the surface in Fayette County, is filled with glacial grooves, some of which are probably as deep as the ones cut in the limestone on Kelly's Island.

Over most of the county, the earth was plowed out to the Niagara limestone, and as the glacier retreated, earth again was distributed by the melting ice which was covered with an accumulation of stones, sand, soil and gravel.

I have seen glacial scratches on the weathered outcropping of the Niagara limestone at Rock Mills, clearly indicating the glacier came from the northeast.

DRIVE NOW ON TO SLOW DOWN FATHER DRAFT

Food Subsidy Defeat Is Conceded While Congress Studies Soldier Voting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Senate and House conferees pressed ahead today for final action on legislation they predicted would immediately slow down or halt entirely the military induction of pre-war fathers.

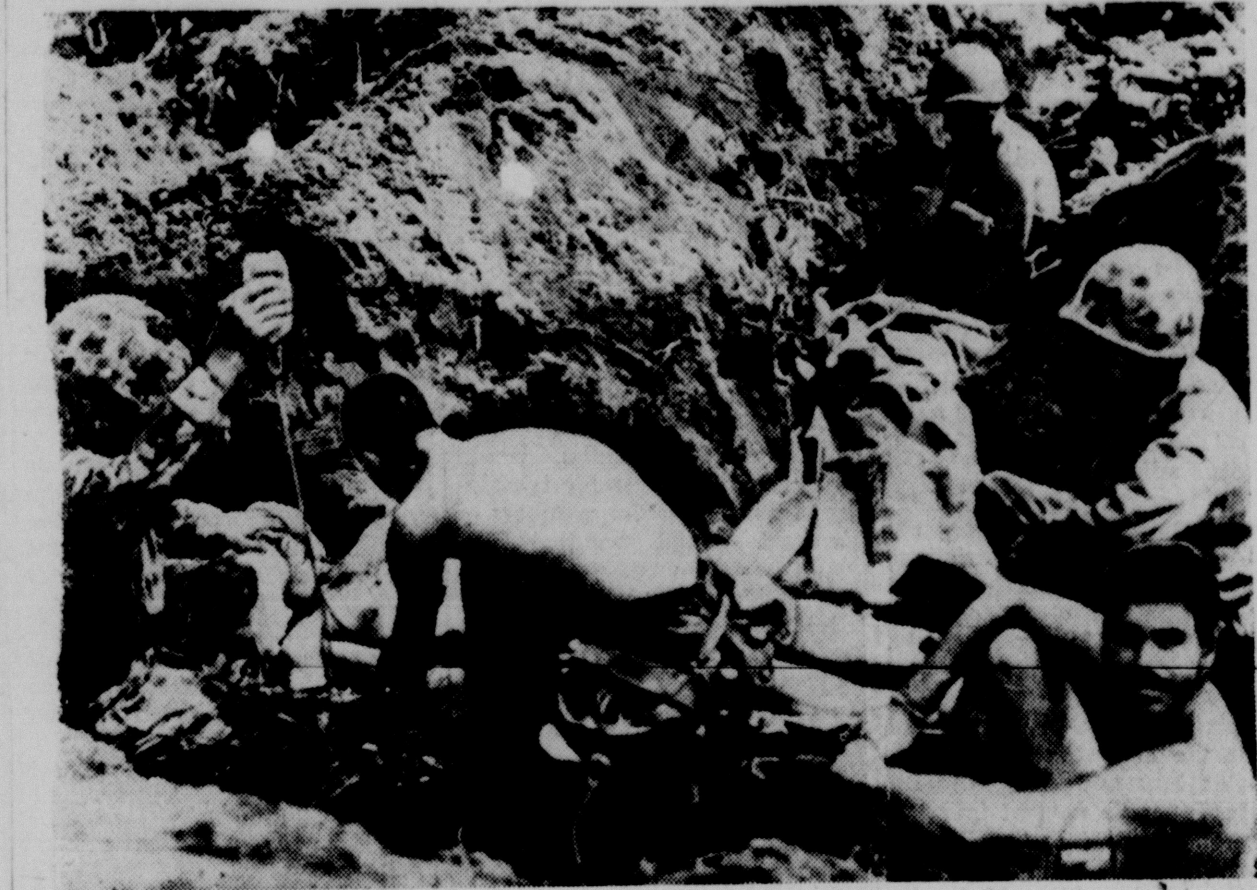

As the situation stands now, they have agreed on legislation which generally would 1) permit induction of pre-war fathers only after all available non-fathers have been called, 2) strip the War Manpower Commission (WMC) of jurisdiction over Selective Service Act administration and 3) repeal the WMC non-deferred occupation order.

The legislation recognizes dependency as a prime factor in deferments by providing that pre-war fathers, regardless of occupation, shall not be called up while there are available anywhere in the state in which they live, or in the entire nation, non-fathers not deferred because of essential occupation or for other reasons.

Steps which still must be taken include issuance of the formal conference report, its passage by the House and Senate and approval by President Roosevelt. Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House military committee predicted final congressional action this week and swift approval by the president.

Fall Of Rabaul Believed Near

Jap Naval Losses Have Made Important New Guinea Base 'Too Hot To Handle' in Spite of Handicap of Scant Supplies of Men and Materiel Sent To Far Pacific

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A climax in the campaign for Rabaul, once powerful Japanese base in the South Pacific, appeared near today—dangerously near for the enemy.

This was emphasized by a naval spokesman who told of mounting damage to Japanese ships and planes in the Rabaul area, and asserted:

"The Japanese have suffered enough damage to important fleet units to give them cause for serious consideration of abandoning the base as too hot to handle."

ANTI-LAND BOOM TAX IS PROPOSED

Wallace Suggests Stiff Levy On Profit From Resales

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard in a prepared speech asked the National Grange convention today to support a stiff special tax on profits made from re-sale of farm land during the war emergency as a measure to curb a new land boom.

Stating that there are some very definite indications farm land prices are going up as they did during and after the last war, the cabinet officer warned inflated farm values would have tragic consequences for agriculture.

Various methods have been suggested, he said, for bringing land under control. Included are farm sale licensing, establishment of government ceilings on land similar to ceilings on commodities, limitations on loans for farm purchases, and greatly increased deed or transfer taxes.

"It would work this way: Profits arising from the first sale of a farm following adoption of this plan would not be subject to this special tax. The tax would apply only on the second sale, or any subsequent resale during the emergency period. The longer the farm was held by one owner the smaller would be his tax."

Liquor 'Racket' Investigation Sought By Senate Committee

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Voted $10,000 for an investigation of the current liquor situation, a senate subcommittee organized today to determine where the old familiar high-octane brands have gone and when they'll be back.

The curious formulae of some of the new or victory model goggle-waters likewise will come under senatorial scrutiny.

Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.), accepting assignment of the five-man committee, expressed belief the distribution and sale of whiskey has entered a "racketeering phase," Senator Elmer Thomas, whose home town, Medicine Park, Okla., is as dry as the congressional record, went further.

"It's already one of the most vicious rackets in America," he asserted.

"Unless some changes are made it will lead to another attempt at national prohibition—on the theory the people can get more and better liquor under prohibition than they can now."

Thomas, who spoke as an individual senator and not as a member of the investigating group, said he had been informed that what little store-bought liquor is now obtainable assays very low in legitimate aged-in-the-wood whisky.

"It isn't whisky at all," he said. "It's just a mixture of junk containing as little as 23 percent of real whisky and the rest just alcohol and some sort of coloring matter."

"Whether or not the Office of Price Administration knows it, they are being handled by some of the liquor interests to the detriment of the public and the benefit of the monopoly."

He contended big distillers and bottlers are preferring duration-model firewater under new brand names at high prices sanctioned by OPA.

Deficit Financing Hit By Bricker In Speech

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker told the National Association of Real Estate Boards today the only way to meet the nation's debt burden was through full industrial production at present day standards and warned against continued deficit financing after the war.

"With the coming of war, we faced no alternative to more deficit financing. Our national life was at stake. We had to build, almost overnight, defensive military weapons which we had so shamefully neglected. . . .

"We do not complain about this cost—only victory and national security and world peace really matter. Every dollar honestly and wisely spent for these purposes is more than worth the expenditure."

"But we must not close our eyes to the day of reckoning or fail to plan for it. The welfare of future generations is involved. They, with us, must lift the burden."

1384 ENEMY PLANES DOWNED BY FORTS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 17.—(AP)—U. S. Flying Fortresses in their first year of operations in the North African theater destroyed or damaged 1,348 enemy planes, and dropped 26,101 tons of bombs on enemy targets in Tunisia, Libya, Sicily, Sardinia, Pantelleria, Italy, France, Germany and Greece.

An official announcement today said 87 Fortresses were lost from all causes, and the losses amounted to only 67-100ths of one per cent of total sorties.

YOUTHFUL AIR ACE BACK HOME ON FARM

Band Blasts Welcome—29 Jap Planes Downed

POPLAR, Wis., Nov. 17.—(AP)—A soldier with the bloom of youth still on his cheeks, came home to the modest farm of the Carl T. Bong family early today, threw his arms around his mother and said "Hi-ya-Mom."

His mother held him tight, repeating over and over, "Sonny, Sonny," as the tears flowed down her cheeks.

Then all was bedlam as a 29-piece band of Superior Teachers College Air Corps trainees struck up the Army Air Corps song and father, sisters, brothers and friends embraced the soldier.

Capt. Richard I. Bong, 23, Wisconsin's first ace of the war who had bagged 21 Jap planes in the New Guinea area, had come home.

My informants stressed the change which now finds the leading Chinese and others openly, but still guardedly, speaking about the Japanese and applying to them an epithetic meaning turtle, which is similar to the basest name a man can call any man in English.

The people, utterly unarmed and unable to face the Japanese guns, speak optimistically of the day when American forces will arrive and free them from the Japanese mailed fist.

They are fully convinced America will save them from any fate that would leave them utter slaves of the Japanese.

I just had a letter from "Doc" . . . as he is still known to so many in this community . . . in which he mentioned only casually his promotion and elevation to hospital commandant . . . he had told me when he was home for a brief business visit last summer that he would like to go overseas . . . but in his last letter he said "so it looks like I would be stationed here for a while longer" . . . there was no note of disappointment for he long ago learned to be the kind of a soldier who sees his work where he is most needed . . . regardless of his own desires.

ALLIED WARSHIPS SUNK OFF NEW GUINEA, JAPS SAY

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Tokyo radio asserted today Japanese planes had sunk a large Allied aircraft carrier, two medium-sized carriers, three cruisers and a "large warship" not otherwise identified in a dawn attack south of Bougainville.

The claim was in keeping with other recent Japanese reports of heavy losses inflicted upon the U. S. Navy, all of which American authorities have branded as gross exaggerations.

RUSSIAN DRIVE NEARS COMEL AS NAZIS RETREAT

Weather Slows Fighting in Italy But Yanks Regain Some of Lost Ground

By RICHARD McMURRAY
By The Associated Press
The Germans captured Leros in the Dodecanese islands last night after an "overwhelming air bombardment and very severe fighting," which tightened their ring of Aegean outposts to the Balkans and the approaches of Turkey's Dardanelles.

The British command announced the island's loss. Berlin said 3,000 British and 5,000 Italians along with 130 guns were captured.

The fight for Leros, just off the Turkish shores, was a tiny operation compared with the staggering battles in Russia where the German communiqué admitted "dents" in their lines in the Dnieper River bend; in the Crimea near Kerch; and in White Russia near outflanked and bombarded Gomel.

The Germans pounded the Aegean island—about the size of Manhattan—with "an overwhelming air bombardment" yesterday, and landed fresh reinforcements.

"Organized resistance ceased in the evening," the Allied communiqué said.

Thus the Germans repeated a victory that earlier had won them the island of Cos, 20 miles south of Leros.

Possession of Leros gives the Germans excellent harbors, suitable for warships and submarines, including the naval base of Lakki Bay and the deep harbor of Alinda on the east coast, across the sea lanes of the Dodecanese, it also has airfields.

Some British newspapers, angry at previous setbacks on the nearby islands of Cos and Symi, suggested a change in the Middle East command which Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson holds.

Russian siege guns bombarded outflanked Gomel today and German broadcasts forecast a fresh Nazi retreat from the Dnieper bend where they said a half million Red troops were attacking violently.

The Germans struck heavily and repeatedly at the lower flank of the great Kiev bulge, particularly in the Fastov and Zhitomir sectors, in actions which appeared aimed at protecting the withdrawal of their divisions to the south.

The Russians in the western Ukraine applied increased pressure.

Grisly Story Of Mass Massacre Of Jews In Russia By Nazis Told

MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—(AP)—An eyewitness account of Jewish massacres in Kiev during the early days of its occupation by German troops has been given by the newspaper Izvestia by Dmitri Grov, a resident of Kiev, who said he saw hundreds of men and women stripped naked and then shot at the edge of a gulley into which their bodies dropped on a great pile.

In the account, distributed by Tass news agency, Grov related: "Several days after the Germans entered Kiev I went to Lvovskaya Street. An incessant procession of people was streaming through it and both sidewalks were lined with German patrols.

This human stream kept flowing for three days and three nights without interruption.

"The Germans were driving the Jews to Baby Yar gulley beyond the city. I also stealthily made my way to that place. I was able to stand the sight of what I

LIMITING SALE OF CIGARS AND CIGARETS HERE

Local Tobacco Dealers Are Expecting Situation To Grow Worse

Cigars and cigarettes are being taken for a ride by the war, with the result that rationing on a voluntary basis is now under way, and dealers are expecting the situation to grow worse instead of better.

At the present time most retailers are limiting cigarette sales to one to four packs per customer, with indications that this will soon be reduced, and cigars are being apportioned four or less to a customer in some of the stores, although one announced cigars by the box were still available—while they last.

Shortages have been apparent for weeks, and the situation is becoming worse, so that throughout the country generally the self-imposed rationing is under way.

Shortage in both cigars and cigarettes is responsible for the reduced number available, and as the surplus has largely been exhausted, restricted sales have resulted, and further restrictions are anticipated in the near future.

One retailer said it is now impossible for dealers to order by mail or wire and have goods shipped at once, because a salesman checks the retail stock before additional stock is shipped.

In this way hoarding on the part of retailers is eliminated. Wholesalers are finding it impossible to obtain all of the cigars and cigarettes they desire, and this is being passed down the line.

Labor shortages, early Christmas buying and heavy overseas shipments are said to be responsible for the scarcity of leading brands.

Salesmen declare their usual Christmas supplies are being taken to meet the demand.

Dealers generally report a good supply of pipe tobacco on hands at the present time, and return of the pipe to popularity is looming as a result.

DON'T SEND KNIFE GIFTS TO SOLDIERS

Servicemen Issued Knives in Combat Areas

Relatives and friends of soldiers are urged today by the Consumers Durable Goods Division of the War Production Board not to send sheath knives as gifts to servicemen.

"Small machine shops from one end of the country to the other are grinding out knives from old automobile bumpers, tire irons or any other piece of second hand steel available," a WPB official said, "while legitimate knife manufacturers are prohibited from making knives except for the Army and Navy."

"Sheath type knives that formerly sold for $2 or $3 are bringing from $10 to $15. The steel may have flaws all through it, but the outside has a bright polish. The soldier doesn't need it, because as soon as he reaches a combat zone he is issued a special knife by the Army designed and tested for combat use."

POST WAR WORK BEING PLANNED IN THIS AREA

Planning Commissions To Be Named Here in Near Future

As result of a conference held at the Neil House in Columbus Tuesday when a group of local officials and citizens met state highway officials and representatives of The Ohio Foundation, an organization was formed for post-war planning from a public works standpoint, to take up the slack in unemployment.

In connection with the conference and in view of the fact that a state law provides for County Planning commissions as well as municipal planning commissions, it is expected that such commissions will be named in both Washington C. H. and Fayette County in the near future.

Plans call for only needed public works and it is expected that a full program of such work in this city and county will be submitted within the next few months.

Many representatives of localities throughout central Ohio were present and took part in the discussions, with the result that before it was ended the Central Ohio Regional Planning commission was organized with Perry Shumaker, engineer of the local division of the State Department of Highways, the president, and Dan Taylor secretary.

Commissions to be formed in the district will go to work preparing a program of public improvements that are really needed, and which it is planned to take up after the war in an effort to absorb much of the labor that will be out of employment when the war material factories are closed, and a return to normal is started.

It is expected that the County Commissioners will name such a commission within a short time, and that one will also be named in this city, after which the work of planning public works will be launched.

bureaucratic regimentation or an economy of scarcity. It cannot be met by an administration that practices extravagance and waste. . . . And it cannot be met by continued deficit financing after the war. That means national bankruptcy."

Reporting the Ohio tax rate $27 per capita against a national average of $38, Governor Bricker—now serving his third consecutive term—said Ohio in five years had paid off a debt of $40,000,000 and had a treasury surplus of $85,000,000. Local government debt in the state now is half the billion dollars it was ten years ago, he added.

"The principal campaign issue of 1932 was economy in government, a balanced budget, and the wiping out of deficits," the governor said. "But from the very beginning, the policy actually followed was deficit financing. Being honest with our people and keeping promises would do more to restore confidence in government than any other factor. A campaign platform is a solemn compact with the people."

Governor Bricker said government regulation was necessary in providing housing for men and women returning from the armed services, but "government ownership and operation in the field of real estate are not required by the public interest."

Concluding, the governor declared "the real spirit of the republic must be revived—the faith in ourselves and in self-government restored," and asked, "What can government do? No, that is the wrong question. What can we do through our government?"

Around 6,000 Germans fell. Sixty Ukrainian towns were captured. Ten strongpoints shielding Gomel were reduced. The Germans "sustained tremendous losses in manpower and equipment," the Russians said. Threatened Rumania was said to have completed plans to evacuate Bucharest.

Miserable weather curtailed fighting in central Italy but Americans regained some lost ground north of Venafro.

For the third consecutive day, the Italian front line virtually remained unchanged, rounding out a week in which Allied gains have been measured in yards instead of miles.

Near the western coast, British troops intercepted an enemy patrol which crossed the Garigliano River, shooting it up badly. In another patrol clash on the mountain road in central Italy, more than a dozen German prisoners were seized.

American bombers soared above the snowmounds to attack airfields in south France near Marseille in the natural invasion avenue formed by the Rhone valley. The targets were Istres le Tube and Salon. Other U. S. aircraft again attacked Elevis air-drome near Athens, and the Yugoslav harbor at Sibenik. Three Allied planes and 13 Germans were shot down.

The guerrilla forces of Gen. Josip Broz (Tito) have begun a counter offensive against German troops in some sections of Slovenia. A communique of the partisans said today they had broken up a Nazi drive that began October 12 in that part of Yugoslavia.

The broadcast announcement asserted that six German divisions—perhaps more than 60,000 troops—had been in action against the Yugoslavs and that the guerrillas had inflicted many casualties during the sporadic fighting.

Flying from Britain, Mosquito bombers attacked western Germany without loss. The flights followed daylight smashes by American Fortresses and Liberators at Norwegian chemical works and a power station at Rjukan and a molybdenum mine at Knaoben. The bombers destroyed six Nazi planes; two were lost.

The Hungarian radio said the Mena House Hotel near the Egyptian Pyramids had been prepared for an imminent meeting "between Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt." The Daily Mail of London said the heads of the three Allied powers would meet soon.

Japan added a chapter to one of the greatest lies in modern times by saying her planes sank three Allied carriers, three cruisers and another large warship at dawn south of Bougainville. To date, the Japanese have claimed 356 warships sunk and 144 damaged around Rabaul in three weeks—assertions repeatedly and emphatically given the lie by the Allies. U. S. officials have said not a single Allied warship has been sunk.

French Military Commander Seeks To Balk 'Purge'

ALGIERS, Nov. 17.—(P)—Gen. Henri Giraud's future as commander-in-chief of the French armed forces appeared uncertain today, a de Gaulle spokesman predicting the French Committee on National Liberation would not accept his terms for remaining in the post while members of his staff seemed confident they would be approved.

Asserting Giraud had submitted his resignation six times in the past week, the de Gaulle spokesman indicated his belief the general's conditions were unacceptable by asking: "What would be the use of having a war minister?" Giraud was said to be demanding a free hand in French military operations and an agreement that no move to "purge" the army would be made without his consent.

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 17.—(P)—Dispatches from Grenoble, France, to the Swiss newspaper La Suisse today said Grenoble citizens had attacked a German arsenal in that city, slaying 40 Nazi soldiers and blowing up a powder magazine. Fifteen Frenchmen were reported killed.

The Swiss newspaper Journal de Geneve said the Nazis clamped martial law on Grenoble. It added 12 German soldiers were killed by the explosion set off by French youths. It was so powerful that a huge gas works more than half a mile away was set off, shattering every window in the city and causing great damage.

LIONS FOOTBALL DINNER PLANS ARE COMPLETE

Stuart Holcomb Will Be Featured Speaker on November 30

Final plans are now set for the annual Lion Club football banquet, scheduled for November 30, after the business session of the Lions Club Tuesday night. Stuart Holcomb, head football coach at Miami University is to be the featured speaker. Robert Terhune will be master of ceremonies in general charge of the program.

District Governor Norman McLean announced the Ohio Lions get-together being held in Springfield Wednesday night at the Shawnee Hotel. "I hope as many of you as possible can get away and attend this meeting," McLean said. McLean said R. B. Sharp, secretary for this district, may attend the meeting.

John Sagar, Jack Hicks, Lamoine Everhart, Robert Hook, W. L. O'Brien, Dana Kelly, John Brandenburg and Paul Van Voorhis were appointed by President Harold McCord to plan the menu, decorations and programs for the ladies' night meeting scheduled for December 14.

Fred Root, one of two guests at the meeting, showed the film "Target for Tonight", to the groups. The film is government released and shows Royal Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force in action over enemy territory. It depicted the inception of the raid from a reconnaissance photograph to the return of the bombers.

Cecil Van Zant was also a guest at the meeting. Thirty-eight members were present.

Then they tore off from naked people—there were men and women among them—rings and watches if they had any, dragged them up shivering from cold or mortal terror at the edge of the gulley and shot them.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

It would be difficult to wrap up a larger amount of explosives in a smaller package than has been done by circumstances in the case of the tiny republic of Lebanon.

The efforts of this unquenchable bantam state to escape the French mandate and establish its absolute independence, with the resulting disturbances and bloodshed, have created a dangerous problem for the United Nations. Indeed, the situation has become so serious that one would expect it to be one of the important matters to be dealt with at any conference which may be held by Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin.

You will recall that at the time of World War Number One Lebanon was part of the Turkish province of Syria. The Allies drove the Turks out and Syria was placed under French mandate. Lebanon was most unhappy about this arrangement for two reasons. She didn't want to be controlled by the French, but preferred either America or Britain, and she didn't wish to be part of Syria, which is Moslem while Lebanon was one of the earliest Christian countries. France gave her autonomous status, but still retained control.

Early in the present war the Hitlerites, with the connivance of the French Vichy government, were infiltrating into militarily strategic Syria when the British and Free French sent troops into the country and took charge.

The Free French under General De Gaulle assumed administration and his representative, General Georges Catroux, promised Lebanon and Syria their independence. However, freedom didn't move fast enough for the Lebanese and recently they took matters into their own hands by proclaiming their sovereignty. The French delegate general, Jean-Louis Heleu, arrested the Lebanese ministers, and subsequent clashes between French troops and demonstrators resulted in scores of casualties.

The Moslems of Syria immediately swung into support of their one-time enemies, the Christian Lebanese. The whole great Moslem world of the Middle East began to seethe with resentment against the French. Saudi Arabia's powerful Moslem king, Ibn Saud, protested the French action but telegraphed to the Syrian government to keep calm.

Britain protested to the French Committee of National Liberation under General De Gaulle in Algiers, and the United States also made representations. De Gaulle sent General Catroux to release the imprisoned Lebanese ministers and try to straighten things out.

That's the situation as it is at the moment, and one doesn't need to be clairvoyant to see that it's packed with dynamite. Among the dangers may be listed these:

1. The friendship of the many Moslem peoples, which means so much to the United Nations and the security of the Middle East, is heavily involved.

2. General De Gaulle, who has been having his difficulties with London and Washington, is again in a tough spot. Involved is not only his personal status but that of his Committee of National Liberation which the Free French hope to see become the provisional government of liberated France. The position is such as could affect the post-war relations of France and the other united nations, and this imbroglio comes just as the Allies are getting set to invade France with the aid of 300,000 French troops in Africa.

3. The suppression of the Lebanese cannot help but give rise to further questions regarding the meaning of that part of the Atlantic Charter in which American and Britain set forth the principle that there will be respect for the right of all peoples to choose their own form of government and restoration of "sovereign rights and self-government" to those "forcibly deprived of them."

I have already reported in this column that I found wholesale doubts in the Orient as to whether the charter applied equally to the East and to the West.

WHS GRID SQUAD IS ENTERTAINED BY ROTARY CLUB

Coach Don Peden Ohio U. Talks Football With Guests and Hosts

The Rotary Club acted as host at the annual luncheon in compliment to the members of the Washington C. H. High School football squad members Tuesday at the Country Club and one of the best meetings of the year resulted.

Thirty football players and their coaches, Jerry Kissel and George Miraben, also Clyde Cramer, junior high coach, together with A. B. Murray and Walter Rettig, superintendent and high school principal, made up the enthusiastic school contingent.

There were a number of men in uniforms of the fighting forces of the country present, some of whom were recent high school graduates.

The main speaker on the noon program, Don Peden, athletic director at Ohio University, was introduced by A. B. Murray, superintendent of schools. Coach Peden was described by Murray as being one of the nation's outstanding coaches, and as being the Rotary Club's number one choice for speaker at the annual banquet in honor of the Blue Lion grid squad.

The first part of Coach Peden's speech was a review of the present football season throughout the nation and the difficulties under which the game was played. Peden emphasized that the football coach's job this year was a difficult chore whether he was coaching an all-civilian team or had a wealth of Navy athletes on his squad.

While the coach of the all-civilian team must rely almost solely on untested seventeen year olds in building a team, the coach at the Navy schools must limit his work with superior material to a few hours every week, according to Peden.

Peden also discussed the now famous Illinois-Ohio State thriller played at Columbus last Saturday and described the unusual situation which culminated in the game's winning score coming after the completion of the regulation playing time. There was really no controversial point involved in the official's decision, according to Peden, as the offside penalty which was called on Illinois, just before the final gun automatically gave Ohio State a chance to run one more play, whether the playing time was completed or not.

Peden, himself an All-Western Conference halfback at Illinois in 1921, somewhat ruefully remarked that he, of course, wasn't quite as jubilant over the course of events which led to the thrilling Buckeye victory as the persons present at the banquet, but that the penalty which was fairly called cost the Illinois eleven a ball game, just as a few weeks ago worked against the Buckeyes and resulted in a heartbreaking Ohio State defeat by Indiana.

The lessons one learns in coaching and playing football should result, stated Peden, in teaching boys and men to give their best. Peden remarked that he had never sent his teams out to win, instead, he has always asked his boys to give the best they had. As an example of this coaching philosophy, which Peden claims is the main lesson to be learned in the game of football, the Ohio University mentor mentioned a series his Bobcat teams played a few years ago against Indiana's Big Ten eleven. In 1929 Peden's team pulled the upset of the year by downing Indiana 18-0. A few years later the Peden teams lost two games in two years to Indiana by scores of 7-6. After the first 7-6 loss Peden told of a fan who remarked to him, "I'll bet you really gave the boys a tongue-lashing after losing that game."

In reply, Peden stated, "I was much more pleased by the showing of my teams than by the losses to Indiana because in the initial win, because in the losing games the boys literally played their hearts out. Not a man on the squad let up for one second. I had asked my boys before the games to give that game every ounce of football ability and courage they had, and they gave me just what I had asked."

Then, in a question to the Rotarians and guests, Peden asked, "Could any man ask any more from any group of boys?"

Peden then spoke directly to the Blue Lion squad and told them that every report he had heard on this season's Washington C. H. grid squad, indicated that the Blue Lions had done the same for their coach.

"You have been the type of football team I like," Peden told the Blue Lions. "You have lost this season and you have won. You have kept your balance, no one among you has regarded himself as more than just another team member. Yours has been a most profitable experience in this season, because you have known that in every contest you had to give your best. Knowing that nothing less than the best was required of you, you have gone into every game to play the best football you possibly could give. No one will ever ask more of you in anything you do, and if you will always be as faithful in school, sports and other activities, you will never have regrets on your conscience."

Letters from football players who have played at Ohio University come into the University athletic office every day, stated Peden, and in every letter some boy tells of how much football experience has helped in various battle zones.

Peden is well known in Washington as a result of several previous speaking engagements here and also for his outstanding coaching record at Ohio University. Known as the "Little Magician" to football fans throughout the nation, Peden has remained in the sport limelight ever since his playing days at Illinois.

In his nineteen years at Ohio U., Peden has never suffered a losing season and numbered among the Bobcat upset victims have been Indiana, Illinois, Navy, and Rutgers. In that period the Peden teams have compiled a record of 112 wins, 39 losses and 11 ties for a .741 average.

In addition to coming up with two perfect seasons in 1929 and 1935, Peden also holds the longest record for undefeated play on the home stadium turf. From 1927 to 1937 the Pedenmen never lost a game on the home field at Athens. This record of a decade of undefeated play at home is believed unequalled in collegiate circles.

Peden, who at one time was signed as an outfielder by the St. Louis Cards, also has a national reputation as a college baseball coach, his 1942 diamond squad downed the famous Great Lakes team with its collection of major league stars 10-7 and thus became the first college team to defeat the Sailors.

The lack of manpower on the Ohio University campus plus the decision of the War Department which prohibits the participation of Army College Unit in intercollegiate athletics, forced Ohio University to withdraw from grid competition this season. But Peden is looking ahead to the day when he can again turn loose his well-trained Bobcat elevens and seek to add to his already outstanding coaching record.

Announcement has been made by the November program committee that next Tuesday's Rotary speaker will be James Maddux of Columbus who will talk on "Community Service."

Checking on Food
While the senate has been debating our part in preserving peace in the post-war world, a small group of its members have been concerning themselves with a more immediate and equally important problem. That is the problem of getting food to millions of underfed civilians in occupied Europe, who otherwise may not live to see the day of liberation from Nazi bondage.

This action has been taken belatedly. But the group partly made up for the tardiness when they called upon former President Herbert Hoover to appear before a foreign relations subcommittee. Mr. Hoover, who was food administrator and director of Belgian relief in the last war, has been attempting to organize food relief for occupied countries since well before our entry into the war. His efforts have been disregarded and his advice has been too long unsought. But his statement to the subcommittee shows that it is not too late to do this job, even though much time and many lives already are gone.

These are the main points of Mr. Hoover's argument: We have a moral obligation to try to save these millions of Europeans. And even if Germany should violate its agreement, which would be necessary for a food relief program, our obligation would still be discharged. Such a program, would also increase Europeans' good will toward us, and create a reception for our occupying troops which otherwise we could not hope for.

The relief program in Greece, initiated by Turkey and carried on by the Swiss, Swedish and International Red Cross, has been a success. Less than one-sixteenth of one per cent of food sent to Greece has been lost to the enemy.

The sending of food to war prisoners has not been interfered with. (Mr. Hoover pointed out the cynical fact that food can be sent to a French father if he is a war prisoner, but not to his hungry children.)

The basic needs of occupied countries would be 150,000 to 200,000 tons of food a month. Even if the Germans seized this whole supply it would not benefit them greatly, since the nation eats about 150,000 tons of food in 24 hours.

Most, if not all, of this food could be purchased in South America. And much of it could be paid for from funds of occupied countries seized and held by the United States.

Sweden has at least 350,000 tons of idle shipping. Sweden and Switzerland have agreed to undertake the supervisory work of a food relief program. They would approach the powers concerned, and there would be no direct agreement between belligerents. The mechanism of distribution thru soup kitchens is already set up in occupied areas.

If there is a risk involved in a food re-

Lawyers Helping
It is a pleasure to be able to pass along, from the Army, a kind word for the much maligned tribe of American lawyers. Members of the legal profession are working alongside medical officers in Army hospitals to speed the recovery of wounded soldiers by giving them free advice on financial problems and other perplexing difficulties.

This work is carried on not only by officers of the judge advocate general's department, but by civilian lawyers, appointed by the committees on war work of the various state bar associations. Army doctors report that this free counsel often imparts to the patient a mental calm that is as important as medicine.

Who Is To Blame?
Continued controversy in the coal mines still threatens coal production. Strikes, the one contingency which the mine operators themselves admit can cause a coal shortage, have been occurring for the third time within the year.

If, as the grip of winter tightens, and as more American men fall overseas, war production is endangered by lack of coal, the people are going to want to know who is to blame for the unnecessary coal shortage. There are three possible culprits: labor, government, or the mine operators.

The blame can hardly be placed on the operators and owners of the coal mines, because under the existing wartime "czar" system built up in government, they do as they are told even to the extent of handing their properties over to the government.

Labor, however, has proved more than once that it can dictate to government in the matter of coal production. Therefore, government authorities, who have total control of the coal mines and labor, must assume responsibility for mine closings. This becomes more evident each day.

Wartime Strains React on Civilians

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE OLD phrase, shell shock, has mostly gone out of fashion in this war, but the condition which

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.
it represented—of a nervous system in collapse from the strain of gun fire, battle and war scenes still exists among the soldiers of our armies.

Some men just naturally like war. And some are just naturally not born soldiers. I get a good many letters from soldiers—medical officers, old friends, nephews, etc., and I am getting so I can read between the lines and tell the ones that are good soldiers and the ones who are not. They all beef, but behind the beefing you see that some are having a wonderful time.

What we don't always remember is that the civilian stay-at-home's nervous system is under a strain as well as the soldier's under combat duty. And the civilians are divided just the way the soldiers are. Some of them thrive on the excitement of war news. They take advantage of the extra ways to make money. They always have a cheerful view of the chances a relative in a war zone has of coming through.

Results of War Worries
Others don't like anything about war. The news makes them ill—their digestion gets upset. They worry their heads off about themselves, their relatives, their country, their business and the future.
So, if during this period some member of your family rather suddenly begins to develop symptoms never exhibited before, don't necessarily take it too hard. And also be sympathetic and kind with them. They should be examined by a competent physician, of course, but if he can not find any physical cause for the trouble, try to see if you can determine whether or not it is related to the difficult times we are passing through.

SYNOPSIS
Roommates and cousins, BETH KINNAN, serious-minded and trusting, and ANDREA BARNES, rather self-centered and selfish, find that the tense atmosphere accompanying America's impending entrance into the war is beginning to affect their lives. For three years Beth has been going with JIM RONALD, who still has not been too successful in getting ahead in the world, while Andrea has been attracted by DENNIS ARCHER, 15 years her senior, but wealthy and interesting—and also married.
YESTERDAY, Beth gets more and more worried about Andrea's intention of staying in the capital and tries to think of some way to persuade her to leave.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
BETH'S ROOM in the boarding house was on the third floor, and when she took herself home that Tuesday night, she went up the two flights of stairs with heavy feet and a heavier heart. Telling herself that she loved Andrea and that they'd have lots of their old good times together (as they did before it had been Andrea and Jim) hadn't helped very much, because reason triumphed.
She opened the door to her room, saying, "Hi!"
She was greeted with silence.

The room was neat as a pin. There were three yellow chrysanthemums and a cluster of shining russet leaves in a low bowl on the dressing table, which was bare of Andrea's things that had made a litter from the moment of her arrival.
Beth took a deep, ecstatic breath. Andrea was gone. No matter that she hadn't left a note. It would be like Andrea to write her when she got home.
Beth took off her coat and hat and dress and put them away in the closet where Andrea's suit and three dresses had hung, and got her sponge bag from the shelf. She slipped on her housecoat and went down the hall to the bathroom.

Luxuriating in her bath, enjoying her peace of mind, and promising herself to make up to Andy some day, she realized she'd have to hurry and dress if she were to get to dinner before it was too late to be served in the dining room. She had no date for that night, but it was enough for her to look forward to a good book and an early sleep. She would sleep more peacefully this night, knowing she'd just snatched back her new-found peace.
She opened her bedroom door. Andrea was sitting on the bed, wearing a brown dress. There was a huge pom-pom pinned to her shoulder.
"How'd you like the flowers, Beth? They're from me to you with love."
Beth sat down, all words running out with her breath.
But Andrea wasn't waiting for words. "I've a job," she announced.

"You've a job?" Beth echoed. "Congratulations? Am I a go-getter, or am I?"
"You certainly are," Beth said bitterly. "Are you secretary to the president, or Mrs. Roosevelt?"
"All in good time," Andrea said blithely. "Although I'd rather be secretary to an unmarried man. A girl gets farther that way."
"You seem to be doing all right. Is it a secret?"
Andrea laughed and said no. "I'm working in a store. Or I will be as of tomorrow. Look, Beth, it's very exciting. I was wandering around the stores, looking at things, and I saw some grand pins in one of those specialty shops—Chez Pomeroy, to be exact—and I got to talking to a girl back of the counter about Washington and all, and I asked her to go to lunch. So after lunch, she took me to meet the manager and he gave me a job. I hate being a clerk, but the girls are awfully nice and..."
Beth had some idea of what clerks got in the way of salary and she had a very good idea of what it cost to live in Washington. She said, "How do you think you can live on what you'll make?"
Andrea busied herself with repairing a scarlet fingernail. "I'll live," she said easily. "I told you I had a little money."

"Well, have to look for a place for you to live. I'd keep you here, Andy, but we wouldn't be able to sleep in this narrow bed." She thought, "Maybe Marion can help me to find a place for Andrea. In another part of the city."
Andrea got up, looking at her watch. "Come on, honey. Get your clothes on or we won't get any dinner. I'm living here now. The Coster girl has moved out of her room, and your landlady has rented it to me. It's the little one on the fourth floor, but I won't mind. I'll be here with you most of the time. That is," she added laughingly, "when I'm not having dates."
Beth began to get dressed like someone having a dream, not too pleasant, but better than waking up from it.
On the way downstairs, Andrea said, "You'll be glad I've come. I'm going to make life exciting for you. Vernon's all right, but he's only Vernon. Ye gods, Beth, how you waste your opportunities! Here you are in Washington where there are dozens of men and you've had only one beau for three months!"
Beth reminded her again of the disproportionate number of males and females in the nation's capital, but Andrea laughed that one off. "Most of them haven't got what you and I have."
"Aren't you satisfied with having Jim?"
"Yes," Andrea said surprisingly, "but I have to keep in practice. I'll get the boys for you."
Beth wanted to cry out, "Go and get all the boys you want for yourself, but give Jim back to me."

Washington at a Glance
By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Observers see behind the appointment of Bernard M. Baruch, as chairman of the new War and Post-war Adjustment Committee, one of the most important home front political moves that the President has made in recent months—a move to halt any migration of business, big or small, from the Democratic fold.

This fits into the whole picture of attempts lately to strengthen the relationship between the administration and business. Not long ago, there was an important conference with the President of business leaders and war mobilization officials. Several big industrialists and representatives of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers were present. No public announcement was made, but the smiles worn by the business leaders when they emerged was proof that it was eminently satisfactory.
It is reported that the President praised business for its contribution to the war effort. It is said also that he urged even closer cooperation with government and that he informed the businessmen that the White House doors would be wide open to them from now on in working out the problems of continued production and more importantly of readjustment when peace comes.
The appointment of Baruch, observers say, was proof that he wasn't spoofing. Baruch's economic views are well known. He is himself the product of and a strong believer in free enterprise. Although, years ago, after the first World War, he authored the famous M-Day plan which was not only this country's but also Germany's basis for mobilization of industry for war, he's a firm advocate of minimum governmental controls of business in peace time.
Placing Baruch in the saddle, these observers say, is the President's way of saying positively that there will be no riding rough-shod over business, when peace comes nor any perpetuation of present controls.
Here's why. Except in the instance of the rubber report, Baruch has never been more than an unofficial adviser. The best he could do was complain publicly if his recommendations were not carried out. Given official status as chairman of the readjustment committee, it's a cinch that he will bring in a report before the 1944 elections outlining the pattern for continued war production and finally the demobilization of industry. It's certain that whatever plan he draws will meet with the approval of business.
Then for the administration (which is the Democratic party leadership) to ignore those recommendations would be to commit political hara-kiri, so far as the nation's businessmen are concerned.
Coupled with political effects is the fact that Baruch's appointment is almost certain to speed war production. That's because he will have the say in drafting contract renegotiation and termination policies, which is one of the most pressing matters now before industry. Fear that they will be left out on a limb as the need for war supplies decreases or comes to an end, has kept a lot of industries from going all out for war material production.
As a matter of fact, the appointment of the 70-year-old Baruch, who likes to hold his important conferences on a bench in Lafayette Park across from the White House, was a pretty happy move all around.

Browning Club Regular Meeting Tuesday Evening

The Browning Club met Tuesday evening in the club rooms of the Washington Hotel, with the History Department chairman, Mrs. Jess Persinger, in charge of the meeting.

First paper of the evening was given by Mrs. Loz Gregg, who interestingly told of the life, characteristics and military tactics of "Our No. 11 World War General," General Marshall, General Ichenhower, General Patton, General McNary and General Montgomery.

Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, substituting for Mrs. Florence Hays, gave a paper on "Simon Lake," who is the inventor of the submarine. This man came from a family of inventors, his father, brothers, cousins and uncle inventing many useful items in our life today. He was a mechanical engineer and built the first torpedo boat in 1894, which proved to be a success. However, the United States government refused to take advantage when he offered the patent to his government, so he went to Russia and lived there for seven years, building submarines for their use. Just before the beginning of World War I, he built the 161 foot boat, the "Seal" which was launched successfully for the United States in 1911. He was then contracted to make five more. At the first of the war he was asked to build 40 more submarine torpedo boats for the United States, which he did.

The last paper of the session was given by Miss Esther Fulwiler, whose subject was "Alexander Woolcott." She sketched briefly his early life and especially his love of friends, which he numbered at one time as 800. "While Rome Burns," written by him gave him his first burst up to the hall of fame and is today a fiction story writer of great renown. He served as dramatic critic for one of the better known newspapers of New York City, for quite some time, during which he earned the title, "most insulting man on Broadway." During his work on the paper it was he who discovered the book, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," by James Hilton and first presented it to the public via his column. Later Woolcott became an actor on the American stage and gained his greatest fame for his role of Sheridan Whiteside in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

SHORT ON MATERIEL

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 17.—(P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman declared today the available men and equipment in the Southwest Pacific were insufficient for a large scale offensive against the Japanese.

The spokesman, Col. Le Grande Diller, said this area "has something less than five percent of American military resources," excluding air resources which are even smaller; the area "is now receiving something under 10 percent of what America is shipping overseas," and "without complaint, the area is doing everything it can with what it has."

Colonel Diller commented after newsmen asked his reaction to dispatches printed here quoting Rear Admiral William Brent Young as saying, "American supplies are reaching the Southwest Pacific in quantities sufficient for large scale operations against the Japanese."

Colonel Diller, who said he spoke of the matter reluctantly but indicated a desire to correct any possible erroneous impressions, expressed the viewpoints during the issuance of today's communique which was limited largely to reports on aerial actions.

Features of the latest war reports were the sinking of an 8,000 ton cargo ship and the damaging of a second large vessel during a 17-ton bombing attack by Australian-manned Beauforts on Rabaul, New Britain; the bombing by an American Catalina flying boat of a 9,000-ton merchantman which had to be beached on the coast of New Ireland; and the downing of between 20 and 26 of 54 enemy planes which raided

Airsteppers Hang to Lead In Women's Bowling League

Lloyd's Markettes managed to hang onto the lead in the Women's City Bowling League by turning on the heat to take the last game of their match with Light's Dairymaids on the Main Street alleys Tuesday night, but Craig's Airsteppers were stepping on their heels after taking all three of their games from the Record-Herald newsgirls.

The Dairymaids turned loose an all-out blast against the Markettes in their opening game and racked up a fat 906. But they could not maintain the pace and when they went into a 581 slump in the last game the Markettes came through with their best game of the evening to win by a wide margin.

The Airsteppers had some trouble in disposing of the News-girls in their first two games, which were both won by close scores, but they romped to an easy win in the last one when Miss Grace Humphrey smacked the ducks for a 218. The Airsteppers made the only clean sweep of the evening.

The Farmerettes dropped their first game to the Morris Store girls but came back to win the last two by fairly comfortable margins.

Clark Leads Pro Scorers

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—While Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears set aerial records against New York, his teammate, Harry Clark, used the Giants as a convenient stepping stone to regain the ball-carrying leadership of the National Football League this week.

Clark traveled 15 times with the ball to burn through the easterners' defense for 81 yards, bringing his total gain for eight games this season to 465. This production enabled the veteran Bear half-back from West Virginia to replace his rival, Tony Canadeo of the Green Bay Packers, in the No. 1 ball-lugging spot.

Canadeo, the former Gonzaga star who became top man in Green Bay's backfield this season, has a total gain of 424 in eight games. His running average per play, however, is better than Clark's—5.3 to 4.6.

API ALL-STAR CAGERS TO PLAY SABINA TEAM THERE THURSDAY EVE

With basketball fever spreading through the API plant here like an epidemic ever since the men formed six teams and organized a league and the girls came along two weeks later to form four teams and a loop of their own for Tuesday night games at the Armory, selection of a couple all-league teams for participation in a possible city league later on and an All-star team to meet out-of-city teams has been completed.

The two all-league squads of seven men each have been labeled the Reds and Blues and are made up of men who showed most promise in the first two games of the league schedule. They are ready to enter a city league—if and when one is organized as in past years.

On the Red squad have been placed Bentley, Hoskins, Adamski, Dabe, Priese, Ellis and Crissinger while on the Blue squad are listed Wical, Coleman,

Ramblers Edge Out Bucks In Hottest Tilt of 5-Game API Basketball Program

With the added attraction of two games by teams of girls, basketball fans poured through the doors of the Armory Tuesday night for the third round of games of the API Men's League and the opening of the new API Women's League.

The 18 to 17 defeat handed the Bucks by the Ramblers and the 7 to 5 victory of Connie's Cubs over Darby's Hot Shots featured the five-game program that started at 6:30 P. M. (fast time) and continued without let-up until nearly midnight.

For individual performance, Bentley, former Jeffersonville High School ace, took the spotlight as his team of Hoosiers swamped the Wildcats under a deluge of baskets and a score of 43 to 8.

Featherweights For Semi-Final

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Freddy Pope of Columbus and Lulu Costantino of New York, featherweights, will meet in 10-round semi-final boxing match on the Cleveland News Christmas Fund program Dec. 1, matchmaker Ed Bang reported. The main event will match Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland against Lee Murray at 10 rounds. They are heavyweights.

About 38,000 pounds of copper go into each million cartridges for small arms.

Looping long shots by Noon and the close-in "sucker" ringers by Dabe marked the seesaw battle the Ramblers eventually won from the Bucks.

Crissinger set the pace for the Boilemakers when they drubbed the Sea Hawks, 26 to 12.

The games between the girls' teams admittedly brought more excitement and closer competition than had been anticipated. The victory of the Cubs over the Hot Shots came after a tilt that had the crowd yelling from start to finish. Derfer's Clippers slipped hopes of Griff's Wildcats by a score of 10 to 2.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—AP—Strong demand for wheat in the cash market and a news dispatch, outlining "formed sources" as saying subsidies for hard wheat millers will be announced some time this week sent the bread cereal into new high territory for as long as 18 years today.

HOME NURSING CLASS TO MEET EACH TUESDAY

28 Attend Organization Meeting at Red Cross Headquarters

The Red Cross Home Nursing Class will meet regularly each Tuesday at 7 P. M. in the Red Cross Headquarters, it was decided Tuesday night at the first meeting of the group.

Miss Elizabeth Rowland, class instructor and Fayette County Health Nurse since 1934, asked each member of the class what she wanted to get out of the course in particular, in an effort to guide her teaching into channels which would provide the information those enrolled in the class really wanted.

Some of the things mentioned by enrollees were learning to make a bed with a patient in it, giving a patient a bath, using a thermometer and other sick-room equipment properly.

Miss Rowland emphasized that it is wise to learn how to improvise sickroom equipment rather than use regulation articles and indicated that some improvised equipment would be used in the course.

Two hospital beds have been donated for use during the course by the Mark Nursing Home. Dale's Furniture Store, which had volunteered to provide a bed, was unable to get springs and mattresses.

Red Cross headquarters has two "babies", dolls made of washable material which are about the weight of a new born child, for use during the course as well.

Enrolled in the home nursing classes are:

Mrs. John Leland, Miss Frances White, Mrs. Leola Eiley, Mrs. Lucille Leach, Mrs. Jean Nisley, Mrs. C. R. Sharkey, Mrs. Chas. Grieves, Mary Ellen Geng, Mrs. Leona Weinrich, Mrs. Clifford Foster, Mrs. Tom Hartman, Mrs. Ray Merzhon, Mrs. Carl Wilt, Mrs. Troy Junk, Mrs. A. L. Morris, Mrs. Delbert Morris, Mrs. Howard Levertson, Mrs. Dorothy Dellinger, Mrs. Helen Stewartson, Mrs. Josephine Bowers, Mrs. Grover Taylor, Mrs. Harley Stackhouse, Mrs. Otis B. Core, Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., Miss May Street, Mrs. Christina Downing and Miss Helen Hankins.

Miss Ethel Stewartson was appointed secretary for the class.

PASSION PLAY TO BE IN SPRINGFIELD

Lions Club Brings It There December 8, 9, 10

The Black Hills Passion Play, termed the world's oldest, will be in Springfield December 8, 9, and 10 at Memorial Hall, it is announced today. The play is sponsored by the Springfield Lion's Club and will present matinee and evening performances on all three days.

Josef Meier, who portrays the part of Christ, is considered by critics internationally as being the most outstanding portrayal of this part in modern times. For the past six generations, members of the Meier family have had the duty to give interpretation to the most sacred of characters, that of Christ. Josef Meier, the seventh in line, has succeeded in translating this age-old story of the Cross into the English language and bringing it to America. His background and education have enabled him to make it "one of the world's outstanding stage productions." The "News Week" critic says of Meier, "His interpretation of the Christ in the Passion Play is superb."

The Black Hills Passion Play was first presented in part by monks in 1242. It was in the seventeenth century that laymen became a part of the play. The various members chosen at this time soon started to train their children for the proper interpretation of their respective parts, and thus started a tradition which is practiced to this very day.

SAVE WASTE PAPER HELP WIN THE WAR

Salvage of All Paper Is Very Important

All residents of the city and county are asked to save their waste paper religiously until further notice, as it is badly needed in connection with the war effort, as well as for civilian needs.

In a statement issued in connection with the paper salvage campaign, the State Salvage Director says:

"On paper we look like a winner, but on paper depends our winning—yes, on your waste paper—brown wrapping paper, corrugated boxes, newspapers,

SABINA SOLDIER HAD TWO WIVES; NOT BIGAMIST

Peculiar Cases Comes To Light in Court Due To Error

Although he had two wives until granted a divorce from the first one recently, Robert J. Thompson, 34, Sabina soldier was not a bigamist, but his second marriage is not legal, according to Judge Frank M. Clevenger, Common Pleas Judge of Clinton County.

Thompson recently found himself with two wives, due to a peculiar mix-up.

Judge Clevenger set aside a decree of divorce he had given Thompson October 16 in his suit against Cleo Thompson of Newark when he found a motion of the defendant had been inserted in the wrong file and the case had been heard by the court under the impression that it was uncontested.

Two days after he had received the divorce, Thompson married Miss Cleo Pearl Beverly, 35, Sabina factory worker.

When he received the divorce decree on October 16, Thompson was given control of their four children, but his first wife is to have their custody.

In vacating the divorce Judge Clevenger restored the case to trial and sustained the motion of the defendant requiring the plaintiff to set forth facts upon which the divorce was claimed and gave the plaintiff leave to file an amended petition.

COUNTY SCHOOL SALVAGE SET-UP READY TO ROLL

Per Capita Pupil Quotas Set for Four-ply Campaign

Per capita pupil quotas for a continuous salvage campaign in the county schools were set up at a meeting of county school principals and superintendents Tuesday night, W. J. Hilty, superintendent of county schools, said today.

The salvage campaign will include paper, metal, tin cans and waste fats. Each school will be awarded a pennant as soon as it has attained its quota, Hilty said. He explained that the schools are encouraged to estimate the money which will be received from the sale of the salvage collected by its student body so that it will have a goal to work for. Money from the salvage sales will be used to purchase equipment or something else the school wants, he said.

"We hope we can complete our metal quota by the end of 1943," Hilty commented as he explained the individual quotas that had been set low purposely so that each student would have a better chance of meeting his quota.

Quotas are, per pupil: metal, 15 pounds; waste fat, one-half pound; tin cans, 25; paper, 25 pounds.

Hilty said that the salvage will be brought to the schools and then sold. He said that if people living in the county would bring their weight slips of salvage sold to any one of the county schools, the school would get credit for the amount of salvage.

Hilty explained that 16 people were expected at the meeting, but only 11 were able to attend. Those present were Carl M. Boring, Mervin Britton, Kenneth Craig, Mrs. Bess Anders, Miss Lulu Binegar, Mrs. Howard S. Harper, Blanchard T. Carr, Hilty, Mrs. Margaret McCoy, Maynard Craig, salvage chairman and H. H. Denton, co-chairman.

The group had dinner at Maddux's Restaurant before the meeting.
